1 9 3 2 - 1 9 3 3

THE University of Nevada is but the reflection of the abilities and ideals of those about whom and with whose aid it has developed. To its humble beginning in a single structure at Elko in 1873, the campus of today stands in striking contrast and is the true evidence of Nevada's background. In picturing the past college year, the 1933 Artemisia has attempted to weave into its pattern a bit of the spirit which has characterized the progress of this state and its university. The merit of this volume may be judged according to its value as a record and as a reflection of this spirit.

DEDICATION

*I*t is only upon firm foundations that real progress, capable of standing the test of adversity, can be made. The growth and development of the University of Nevada into its present high status among the finer educational institutions of the country and its proved ability to flourish in spite of obstacles such as the troubled times of the present are striking tributes to the foresight and ability of those who laid the groundwork and made the history of this university. The 1933 Artemisia pays honor to those pioneers and to their spirit of achievement which still lives to push Nevada to further heights.

The
SKETCH BOOK
Preface

 Since 1825 when the first white expedition  led by Jedediah Smith entered a portion of Nevada in search of trapping grounds, only trappers and California bound immigrants  had intermittently inhabited this western portion of the Great Basin

 In 1851 a permanent settlement was finally made within Nevada's present boundaries when a party of seventeen  under the leadership of John Reese and Stephen Hensley, established a trading post  at the head of Carson Valley. The site was called Mormon Station but was renamed Genoa in 1855.

 An influx of immigrants and Mormon settlers  so rapidly enlarged the post that in November, 1851 a squatter government was organized.  This was the first governmental effort within the present bounds of the state of Nevada.

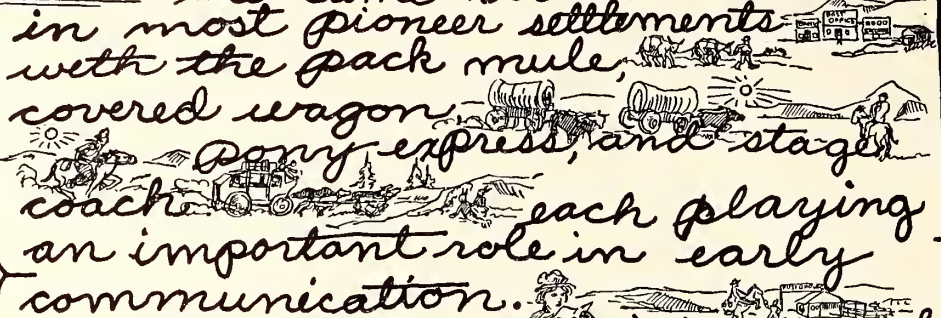

The most disastrous of early Indian outrages occurred on May 12, 1860, when the "Ormsby Party" fell before the Pah Utes near Pyramid Lake while attempting to avenge the Williams Station Massacre.

Led by the cunning "Old Kinnemucca" the Indians turned the attack of the whites into a wild dash for safety and over half the party, including Major Ormsby, fell victim to the scalping knives of the pursuing savages before darkness finally ended the tragedy.

The event was doubly significant in that the settlers were aroused to concerted action and within a few years the Pah Utes were forced into peaceful relations with their white neighbors.

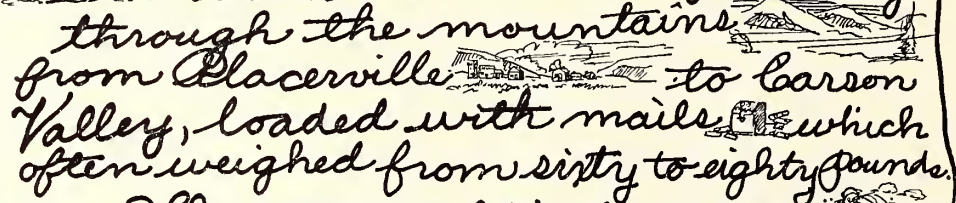

The history of transportation in Nevada follows much the same course as that in most pioneer settlements with the pack mule, covered wagon, pony express, and stage coach, each playing an important role in early communication.

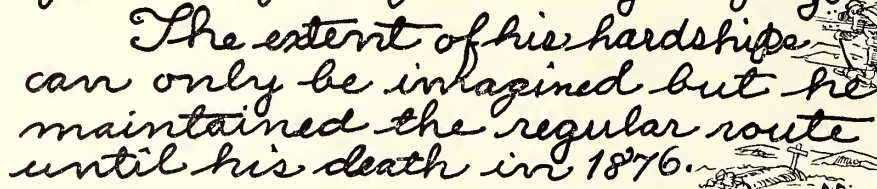

One of the most interesting of the early tales of transportation was that of "Snow Shoe" Thompson, who, challenged by the difficulties of carry the mail through the heavy snows of the winter Sierras volunteered to make the trip on snow shoes.

Once each month Thompson braved the 90 mile journey through the mountains from Placerville to Carson Valley, loaded with mails which often weighed from sixty to eighty pounds.

The extent of his hardships can only be imagined but he maintained the regular route until his death in 1876.

 In 1869, ten years after the discovery of the Comstock Lode,  John Mackay, together with James G. Fair, contracted to develop the former Hale and Norcross mine. Mackay had saved a small sum  taken from the Kentucky Mine in Gold Hill,  and he induced Messrs. Flood and O'Brien, a San Francisco  mining firm, to join the enterprise.

For almost five years  the group worked  with little success until in 1873, on Mackay's advice, the company  extended its holdings and a drift was sent along the vein just north of the original site.

 The result was the discovery of the famous bonanza  in the Consolidated Virginia & California Miner which brought its owners $100,000,000  within a period of five years. The Mackay fortune  is one of the few taken from this section, which has immeasurably benefited Nevada  and its State University.

Because of his need for greater support in the Senate of the United States and in gratitude for the immense wealth which had come from Comstock to finance the Civil War, then at its climax, President Lincoln, early in 1864 received the approval of Congress to authorize this territory to draw up a constitution and hold an election on the issue of statehood.

The document was composed and accepted by an overwhelming vote.

It is of interest that the entire constitution was telegraphed to Washington a significant event in the history of communication.

The petition was approved and on October 31, 1864, Nevada became the 36th State in the union as the measure was confirmed by the signature of Abraham Lincoln.

NEVADA
Entered October 31, 1864

 Taking advantage of the Morrill Act of 1862  which provided that for each representative in Congress a state might receive 30,000 acres  of land for the endowment of an agriculture and mechanical college, the Nevada legislature in 1873 provided for a State University  to be located at Elko.

It was opened the following year and although little more than a preparatory school it prospered until 1884 when a lack of students forced it to close.

 Realizing that the chosen site was unfortunate from a population standpoint, a bill was signed in 1885  which located the State University  at its present site.

On September 12, 1885 the cornerstone was laid  for the first building on the hill  which was named Morrill Hall after Senator Justin Morrill whose land grant bill has made possible the University of Nevada.

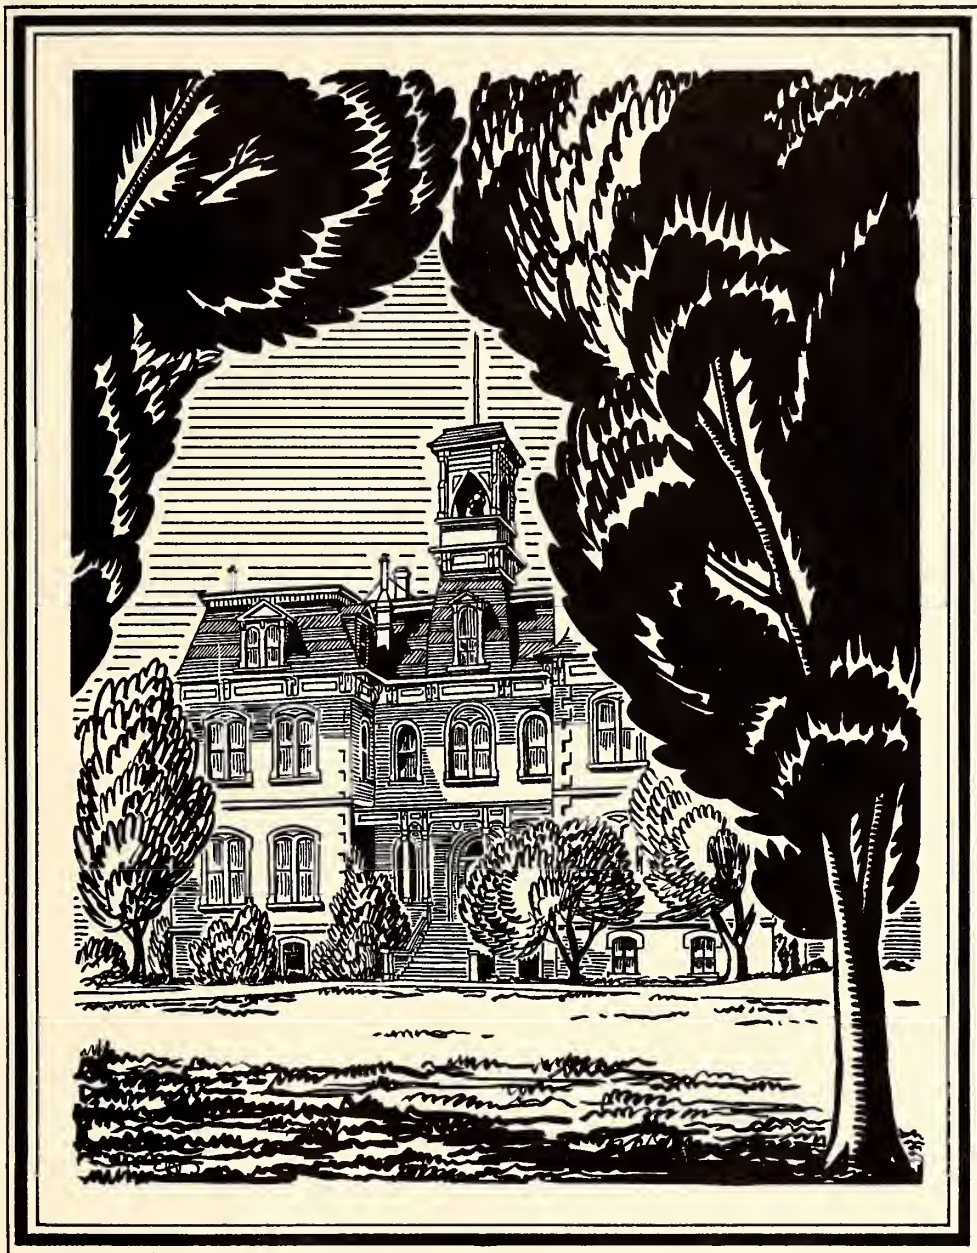

IN the administration, the faculty, the leaders and the personnel of the university lies its foundation, framework and real strength. From the wisdom and influence of the most eminent educator to the awe and inexperience of the entering freshman; each is a vital part of the Nevada we know. Some will remain, others will go but the university marches forward because those who are and were here have made it so.

ADMINISTRATION
/ One

WALTER E. CLARK
President of the University of Nevada

EACH decade after 1930 over a million men and women will receive bachelor's degrees from colleges and universities in the United States of America. If each one of this great host of men and women, during undergraduate years, has gained the needful knowledge and the open, accurate, swift mind which means power, has acclimated to the upper air of the universals, which means faith, and has ingrained the will to serve, which means inspiration, then may this Nation be privileged to be a leader of the world in upper-level terms, out of war into peace, out of poverty into plenty, out of commonplace into beauty, out of the earthy into the divine.

KEITH L. LEE

President of the Associated Students of the University of Nevada

It has been said that "Democracy is always dreaming of a nation of kings": kings in the sense of men who are monarchs of themselves at least, clear visioned, strong willed, clean virtued sovereigns, the attributes of every Nevadan. These attributes, together with the dreaming of those cheerful tomorrows; with a nobler pulse-beat in our hearts and a truer purpose in our souls, that we look forward to furthering in our day and our generation, the spirit—the ideal—the monarch—of our University of Nevada.

FACULTY

BOARD OF REGENTS

George S. Brown
Chairman of the Board of Regents

THE Board of Regents is responsible for the management of the university. Its members are elected at large and serve for terms of ten years.

The board as well as being interested in the university supervises the administration of finances, government, courses of study, and the personnel of the faculty.

Members of the Board of Regents are Hon. Frank Williams, Hon. Silas Ross, Hon. George S. Brown, Hon. George Wingfield and Hon. A. C. Olmsted.

DEAN OF MEN

Reuben C. Thompson, Dean of Men

The position of Dean of Men has been ably filled this year by R. C. Thompson, professor of philosophy.

The dean advises, helps and instructs the men students of the university. Various problems concerning the university men are handled through the office of the dean.

DEAN OF WOMEN

Margaret E. Mack, Dean of Women

Margaret Mack as the Dean of Women has gained the admiration of the entire campus for her tireless work in carrying out the duties of her office.

The dean has complete supervision over the living conditions in the two dormitories and also acts in the capacity of adviser to the women students of the university.

Friendly relations between the Dean of Women and the students are effected by contacts in the way of arrangements for dances and social activities of the various campus groups.

FACULTY

THE TREASURER AND COMPTROLLER

CHARLES H. GORMAN, the present Comptroller, has held his position at the university for a number of years and is the official accountant who has care of all financial business connected with the university. He is authorized to receive all fees from the students and the proceeds from sales of farming goods and all personal property of any nature.

The comptroller is the custodian of all student funds and, since the innovation of the graduate manager office, all moneys are paid out only upon the presentation of a requisition approved by the graduate manager and the Finance Control Committee.

Charles H. Gorman, Comptroller

THE REGISTRAR

It is the work of the Registrar to handle all student registration, determine and keep on file the status of all those enrolled, and compile and send out all grades.

Despite present conditions there was but a very slight drop in the enrollment this year. Enrollment figures for the past five years are as follows: 1929, 944; 1930, 1046; 1931, 1105; 1932, 1052; 1933, 1042.

Louise M. Sissa, Registrar

COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCE

Maxwell Adams, as the Dean of Arts and Science, has been instrumental in raising the standards of this particular college to its present high status.

The College of Arts and Science was one of the first colleges in the university, and at present the enrollment of the college is double that of all the others.

The main courses offered by this college are of the cultural type and are preparatory to professions such as law, journalism, business and medicine.

Maxwell Adams, Dean of the College of Arts and Science

FACULTY

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

THIS college offers various courses in the fields of electrical, mechanical and civil engineering. Considerable interest has been shown in the engineering work this year and the enrollment has been swelled by the return of a large number of graduate students to finish up a fifth year of special studies in the engineering fields.

Frederick H. Sibley is dean of the college and is assisted by the following associates: Prof. Boardman, Prof. Bixby, Prof. Palmer, Assistant Prof. Searcy and Assistant Prof. Sandorf.

Frederick H. Sibley
Dean of the College of Engineering

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

The College of Agriculture is maintained for the benefit of those students who wish to follow work in the agricultural field. A school of Home Economics is also included in the college for those women who are interested in home-making work.

After graduation, students usually follow work in the agricultural extension service, research work, farming and teaching.

Robert Stewart is the dean of the college and other members of his staff are Prof. Wilson, Prof. Frandsen, Prof. Lehenbauer and Prof. Lewis.

Robert Stewart
Dean of the College of Agriculture

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

A liberal and professional course of four years is offered by the School of Education to those who wish to follow secondary school teaching and administrative positions in the schools of Nevada.

Also under this department is the Nevada State Normal School for the training of elementary teachers.

Faculty members of the education department are Dean Hall, Prof. Traner, Assistant Prof. Ruebsam, Assistant Prof. Brown, Mr. B. D. Billinghamurst and their associates.

John W. Hall
Dean of the School of Education

FACULTY

MACKAY SCHOOL OF MINES

THE Mackay School of Mines has the reputation of being one of finest schools of its kind in the West.

Courses are offered in metallurgy, mining and geology, as well as other subjects necessary for the study of mining engineering. Upon completion of the requirements the degree of Bachelor of Science in Mining Engineering is awarded. An additional year for research work is also offered.

The Mackay School of Mines is under the direction of John A. Fulton. Among his assistants are Prof. Carpenter, Prof. Stoddard, Prof. Palmer, Assistant Prof. Smyth and Instructor Couch.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The University of Nevada Alumni Association works as a group to bring together graduates of Nevada. Annual Homecoming reunions tend to accomplish this and to create contact between alumni and students.

Proctor Hug was this year elected president to succeed the retiring Joe McDonald. Mrs. Louise Lewers has served as secretary for many years and is responsible for many of the organization's accomplishments.

THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY

The library, housed in the Alice McManus Clark Memorial building, contains almost 55,000 bound volumes and several thousand pamphlets. These have been selected to suit the needs of the university as well as for general information of various kinds. In addition there is a reading room which is supplied with over 200 of the current leading periodicals.

Miss Thea Thompson is Librarian and Mr. J. D. Layman is Librarian Emeritus. The remainder of the staff include Ruth Nash, Clare Johnson and Precious Nash.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Katherine Ligon, Vice-President

Florence Lehmkuhl, Secretary

STUDENT body government at the University of Nevada is organized into an association of all students regularly enrolled in the University. From among these students the A.S.U.N. officers are elected at the end of each spring semester. All officers elected at this time hold offices for the ensuing year. Meetings of the Associated Students are held twice each month at which time matters of importance to the students in general are reviewed and discussed. Officers elected for the year 1932-33 are as follows: Keith Lee, president; Kathryn Ligon, vice-president; Florence Lehmkuhl, secretary, first semester; Helen Peterson, secretary, second semester; Sam Arentz, treasurer; Dan Harvey junior class representative to the executive committee; Orison Miller, sophomore representative to the executive committee; Gene Salet, men's representative to Finance Control; Marthine Solares, women's representative to Finance Control; Paul Harwood and J. E. Martie, faculty representatives to Finance Control; Bernard Hartung, Graduate Manager, and Neva Shaw and Elbert Walker, representatives-at-large to the Publications Board.

THE NEW CONSTITUTION

THROUGH an almost unanimous decision of the A.S.U.N., student government at Nevada has undergone its greatest change since its inception in this university. By a vote of 395 to 11, the students decided to accept the changes recommended by the Constitution Revision committee. The committee, composed of Elbert Walker, chairman, Kenneth Johnson, Keith Lee, Howard Umber, Sam Arentz, Margot Evans and Professor Paul Harwood, drew up five major changes for the A.S.U.N.

1. To make the Associated Student government more democratic through equal representation of all organizations and the independents on the proposed executive governing board, the student senate.

2. Election of qualified officers provided for through the creation of a nominating committee, organized to prevent "steam roller" politics.

3. Abolition of the Desert Wolf, student comic quarterly.

4. Reduction of student allowances to the Artemisia by 50 cents per semester to provide funds for extra-curricular student activities.

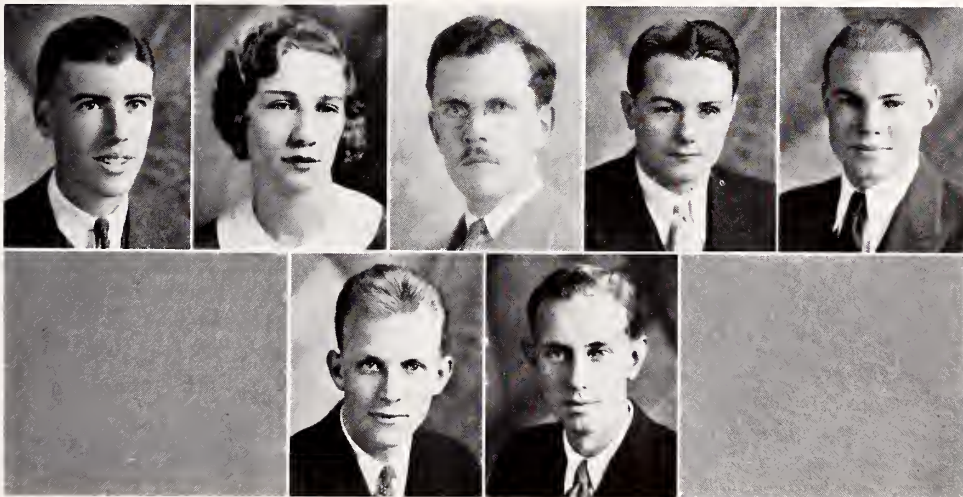

5. To substitute a class manager form of government in an attempt to eliminate "petty politics."

Men's Upperclass Committee—VanVoorhis, Reed, Myers, Elliott, Rampoldi, Beemer, Sanford, Parsons, Russell

UPPERCLASS COMMITTEES

THE enforcement of campus traditions is carried out by the men's and women's upperclass committees. The duty of the men's committee is to handle all cases of underclass misdemeanors and especially those cases of tradition violation which the Sophomore vigilance committee is unable to cope with. The duties of the women's committee are more strenuous than those of the men's due to the fact that the women's upperclass committee has complete charge over all women students at the university, freshmen women as well as all other undergraduate women, and punishment is meted out to all women trespassers of campus traditions.

Women's Upperclass Committee—McCormack, Pope, Peck, Olmsted, Cross, Wright

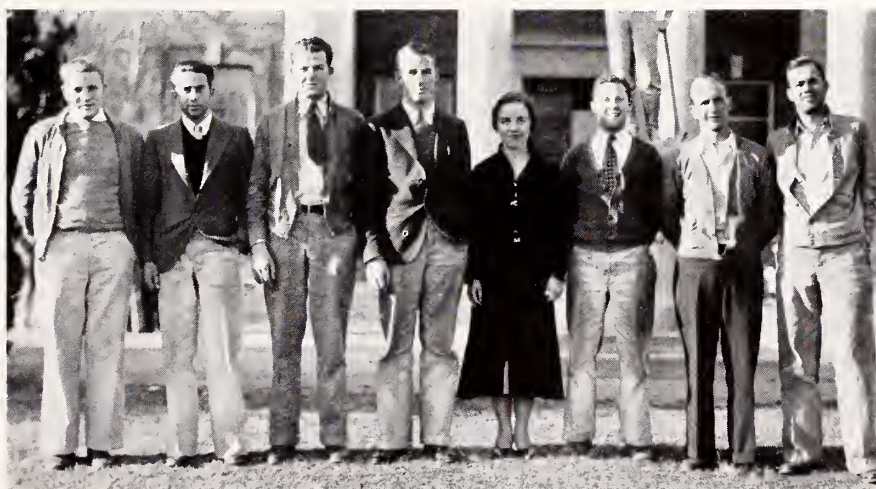

Homecoming Committee—Smith, McDonnell, Morris, Huber, Seeliger, Mann

HOMECOMING AND MACKAY DAY

ONE of the most important committees of the year is the Homecoming Day committee which is appointed by the president of the student body. This body is concerned with plans for a proper celebration of the return of alumni and the bonfire rally, Wolves' Frolic, football game and Homecoming dance are but a few of the features of the day.

Of no less importance is the annual Mackay Day celebration which features a campus cleanup, A.S.U.N. nominations at the luncheon, and is climaxed by a Whiskerino dance in the gym, with awards being presented for the various Mackay Day contests.

SENIOR CLASS

CLASS OFFICERS

Philip Mann	President
Geraldine Harbert	Vice-President
Cora Henriksen	Secretary
Mason Myers	Treasurer

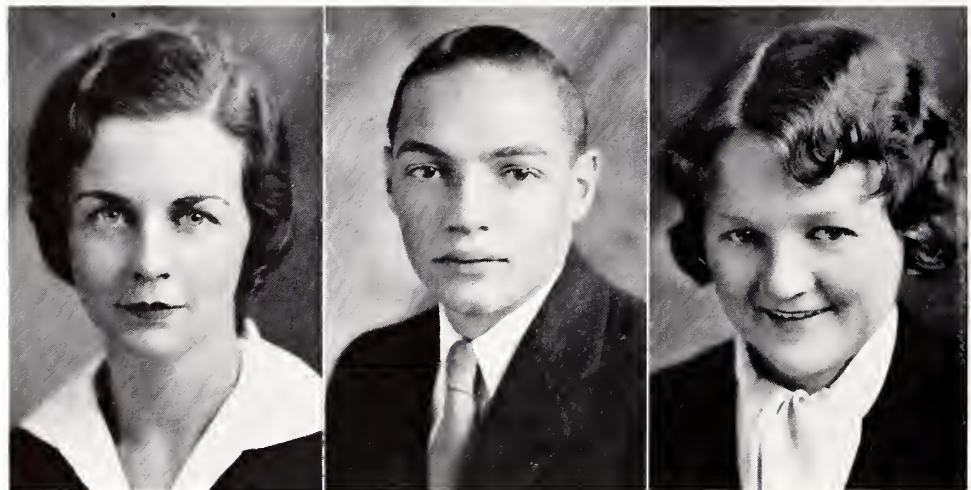

Philip Mann, President

SINCE its first meeting the class of '33 has been very active in all campus affairs and functions. The first officers of the class, four years ago, were Bill Beemer, president; Elsie Seaborn, vice-president; Denise Denson, secretary, and John Mariani, treasurer. Since that time the ranks of the class have been thinned by those who have left school, and others have filled in their places. The loss of this class will be felt by the University in many fields.

The following year the Soph Hop, with Joe Stern as chairman, was one of the outstanding events of the year. Officers for that year were Clifford Devine, Enid Harris, Florence Lehmkuhl and Milton Young. During the spring semester class leaders were Philip Mann, Neva Shaw, June Shair and Keith Lee.

Last year the Junior Prom was acclaimed the social event of the year and was held at the Century Club with a South Seas island motif. Other events given by the class in the third year were the annual Junior Jump, Junior Cut Day and the Senior Ball in honor of the graduates.

Wyman Evans, President

OFFICERS for the junior year were Albert Seeliger, president; Margaret Rawson, vice-president; Eva Edwards, secretary, and Fred Tong, treasurer. Second semester officers were Ted Lunsford, president; Florence Lehmkuhl, vice-president; Katherine Ligon, secretary, and Mason Myers, treasurer.

Due to the efforts of several members of the Senior Class the new A.S.U.N. constitution was drawn up and presented to the student body which accepted it almost unanimously.

The Senior Class pays final tribute to the University of Nevada with a traditional pilgrimage and Senior parade to the last A.S.U.N. meeting of the year. Baccalaureate will be held on Sunday, May 14, while Commencement exercises are to be held on the following day. At this time the class will receive their diplomas signifying four years of hard work and efficient service at Nevada and a final chapter will be written to a remarkable history of the class.

John Flourney, President

UNDER the guidance of John Flourney and Bruce Gould, junior class presidents, the class had a very successful year with representatives in all fields of campus activities. Juniors were especially outstanding in various campus athletics, having Cashill, Guffrey, Stowell, Salet, Stock and Harrison on the football team and being represented in basketball by Stowell, Gould, Leighton, Guffrey and Curran. Nevada publications were also strengthened by representatives from the class on the various staffs. The management for the Sagebrush, Desert Wolf and the Artemisia was conducted by three juniors, Koerner, Cazier and Wheeler, while Gilmartin edited the Artemisia.

Plans for the annual Junior Prom were well under way when the economic situation made it impossible to continue. Members of this committee were Rowan Colgan, Clara Galvin, Oscar Robinson, Margaret Martin, Dorothy Pope, Harold West, Dan Harvey, Virginia Cross, Mary Thompson, Clara Whitney, Bob Marean, Gene Salet, Russell Elliot and Jean McIntyre.

THE change in the method of holding the high school basketball tournament made it impossible to hold the annual Junior Jump, which in the past has followed the final game deciding the state champions. The usual method, in which the Block "N" sponsors this tournament, was abolished due to the financial situation, and in its place a district competition was held. It was thought impossible to sponsor a successful dance at this time.

Because of this it was decided that the Juniors would be unable to honor the graduating class with the annual Senior Ball, since no other method of financing could be discovered. The Senior Ball has been a traditional dance given by the Junior Class for upperclassmen only. Plans are under way to observe the annual Junior Cut Day when the members of this class are at liberty to remain away from all of their classes and take pleasure in picnics, sleeping or other forms of amusement that are so prevalent in the spring of the year. Also outstanding on the class activities was the participation of the Junior team in the interclass track meet in which they took second place.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

THE Sophomore Class has the main function of enforcing campus traditions upon the Freshmen. This year the vigilance committee was composed of Jack Williams, Charles Worn, Joseph Jones, Bob Creps, Ray Frolich, Bob Maher,

Carlton McCulloch, President

Orison Miller, George Steffens, Jack Quaid, Ralph Menante, Jack Blakely, Kenneth McLean, Clarence Elkins, Al Gibson, Leslie Springmeyer, Frank Leonard, Bob Hansen, John Sullivan and Jerry Dellanoy.

The Sophomores were successful over the Freshmen in the annual Field Day, and by this they also won the privilege of wearing white vests and derbies and carry canes any time that they wish.

On October 15 the annual Sophomore Hop was given at the State building and was the only class dance to be held this year.

Officers for the first semester were Charles Jensen, president; Helene Stark, vice-president; Margaret Walker, secretary, and Wilbert Peterson, treasurer. Second semester officers were Carleton McCulloch, president; Florine Frank, vice-president; Helen Malloy, secretary, and Robert Hansen, treasurer.

FRESHMAN CLASS

THE Freshman Class began their college career under the guidance of Lee Ward as president, Georgia Cole as vice-president, Marion Cross as secretary, and Jack Shaughnessy as treasurer.

The first encounter of the Frosh with Sophomores resulted in a defeat for them in the annual Field Day. Under the supervision of the Block "N" Society the Freshmen gave the "N" on Peavine mountain its two annual whitewashings and put the symbol into shape for another year.

Harry Austin, President

Due to the existing banking situation the class was unable to present the campus with the annual Frosh Glee. The class has participated in all fields of university activity and should prove to be outstanding before completion of its four years.

The class also entered a team in the interclass meet and garnered 28 points to take fourth.

Officers for the second semester were Harry Austin, president; Virginia Hill, vice-President; Dorothy Shoup, secretary, and Jack Hughes, treasurer.

Cole, Shaughnessy, Hill, Shoup, Hughes

IN the activities and events of the university year lie the color and vigor which is so unique to college life. There is a field to suit the interests of every student and, be it on the football field, over a typewriter, behind the footlights, or in any of the many other fields of extra-curricula activity there is much to give for Nevada and a great deal more to be gained for the individual.

FAR WESTERN CONFERENCE

The conference meet which was held in Fresno, on May 7, was won by Fresno State Teachers, who were able to total 66.7 points to get first-place honors, and San Jose placed second with 51.5 points.

The Nevada tracksters managed to place two men in three events for a total of 8 3-5 points. The Nevada men who placed in the meet were Neil Scott and Dan Bledsoe. Scott placed first in the 220-yard dash, and second in the 100-yard dash. Bledsoe tied for third place in the high jump.

Conference records were broken in the two-mile run, with the time of 9:57.8; the 220 low hurdles run in 23.9, and in the relay run, won by Fresno in 3:22.1. New field records were set in the broad jump at a distance of 23 ft. 3¼ in., and in the high jump at a height of 6 ft. 6⅛ in.

The 1932 season was featured by the work of a few star performers who were the outstanding athletes in their field in the conference. Neil Scott, dash, broad jump, and relay man headed the list of Nevada athletes. Other stars were Roy Salsbury, distance man; Dan Bledsoe, high jumper; Earle Seaborn, two-miler; Roy Bankofier, pole vaule and hurdles; Dale Hart, quarter-miler, and Harvey Hill, sprints and high jump.

1933 VARSITY TRACK

Hit heavily by the graduation of most of the star track and field performers of last year's squad, Coach C. L. Mitchell called together his men for the 1933 season on February 26.

Among the veterans of last year's squad who have returned to represent Nevada this season are Harvey Hill, sprint ace; Jack Hill, broad jumper and shot putter; Earle Seaborn, Frank Leonard and Paul Leonard, distance runners, and Dan Bledsoe, high jumper and javelin thrower.

The new men who have shown promise thus far this season include John Dennison, pole vaulter; Lynn Gerow, weight and javelin; Ralph Hromadka, high and low hurdler; Bill Beemer, quarter-miler and dash man, and Howard Smithe, distance man.

The schedule for the season is as follows:

- April 1—Interclass meet at home.
- April 8—Interfraternity meet at home.
- April 15—Nevada vs. College of Pacific at home.
- April 22—Nevada vs. California Aggies at Davis.
- April 29—Nevada vs. Alumni stars at home.
- May 6—Far Western Conference meet at Sacramento.

FOOTBALL SEASON

NEVADA 12, OREGON STATE NORMAL 7

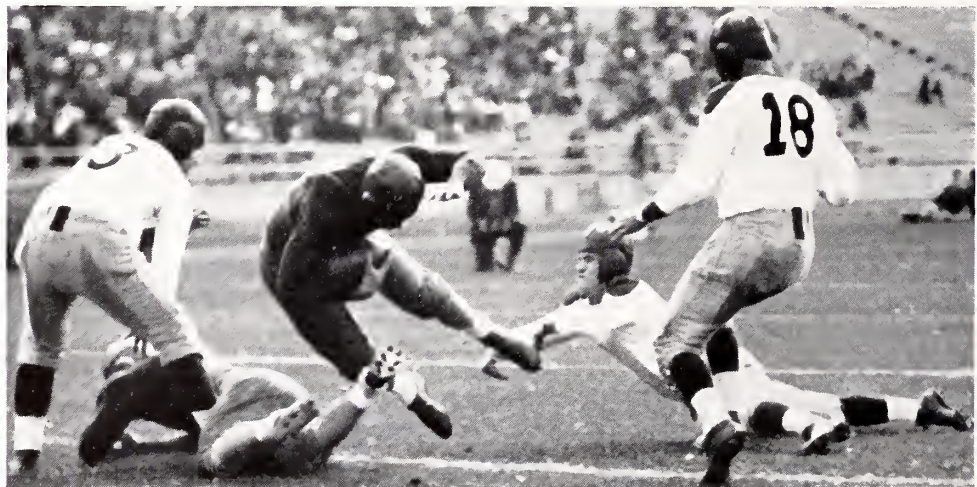

Gaile Parsons, Fullback
Robert Harris, End
Roy Bankoffier, End

NEVADA opened its 1932 football schedule by taking a hair-raising victory from the gridders of Oregon State Normal College by a score of 12-7. Bewildering the Wolves' defense, the Oregon teachers kept the ball deep in Nevada territory throughout the entire first half and most of the third quarter. Late in the second quarter their offensive carried them to the Nevada eighteen-yard line from where Gordon broke through to score a touchdown. A pass conversion succeeded. Toward the end of the third quarter the Nevada offense started clicking but it was not until the fourth period was well under way that Nevada received its first scoring opportunity. A fumble by Oregon on its own eight-yard line was recovered by Stowell, Nevada end. After three attempts at the Oregon line, Gail Parsons, fullback, crashed over left guard for the first Nevada score. Guffrey's attempt at conversion failed. With but two minutes of play remaining, Nevada again recovered an Oregon fumble on their twenty-four-yard line. From this point Jack Hill, in four plays, crossed the goal for the winning touchdown.

NEVADA 0, ST. MARY'S 35

Playing its second game of the season against one of the strongest teams on the coast, Nevada received a 35-0 setback at the hands of "Slip" Madigan's Galloping Gaels. From the first play of the game the outcome was never in doubt. The boys from Moraga Valley, led by two all-Americans, Steponovich and Brovelli, ripped large holes in the Nevada forward wall for repeated gains. As the half ended the score stood 35 for the Gaels and 0 for Nevada. It was an inspired Nevada team that took the field in the second half of the contest. The Wolves organized a defense that St. Mary's was unable to penetrate and there was no scoring in the second half. According to the ratings of the two teams, Nevada made a good stand in the St. Mary's game. Although badly outclassed in the first half, the boys from Reno came back strong in the second and displayed a fighting spirit worthy of anyone's commendation.

Hill Stops Nicolini on the Goal Line at St. Mary's

NEVADA 6, UTAH 6

The following week Nevada journeyed to Ogden to play the University of Utah and were greeted at the station by a 40-piece band and given the keys to the city. Utah, one of the west's strongest teams, was conceded the game, but the Wolves upset the dope and led the scoring until the last few minutes of play, when Utah was able to tie the score, 6-6. Early in the second quarter Nevada recovered a fumble on the Utah six-yard line after a well-placed punt by Ambrose, Nevada quarterback. In one play the Wolves made a mighty effort and put the ball on the other side of the goal line for their only touchdown, but conversion failed. The Wolf Pack managed to hold the offensive until the last quarter when the Utes concentrated on a 75-yard march down the field and topped it off with a touchdown. Nevada blocked the kick for conversion and the scoring for the day was over. Only this belated attack by the Mormons, in which they brought new reserve strength against the tired Nevada line, won the tie for them.

NEVADA 16, CALIFORNIA AGGIES 0

Nevada opened the Far Western Conference race by trimming the Cal. Aggies by a score of 16-0, as a Homecoming Day feature. Throughout the first quarter the game took on the aspect of becoming a punter's battle. After failing in three attempts at the line, Nevada sent Tom Cashill from his center position into the backfield to drop-kick. Standing on his own forty-five-yard line, Cashill booted one straight through the uprights for the first score of the game. (Incidentally, this kick goes into the records as being the longest drop-kick of the 1932 football season.) In the closing minutes of the second quarter Ambrose of Nevada rang up the second score of the game, which Cashill converted. Neither team was able to make very much progress in the third quarter, and the ball was worked back and forth near the center of the field. However, early in the fourth quarter Nevada took possession of the ball on its own forty-yard line and marched to a touchdown, but the conversion failed, and only the final gun stopped the Wolves from further scoring.

With an enviable record behind them, the Wolf Pack took the field against the Golden Bears of California hoping vainly for a victory, or at least a score against their mighty rivals. This hope was short-lived, however. Early in the first quarter a fumble recovered by California on the Nevada one-yard line precipitated the Bears' scoring orgy. Three more touchdowns followed in rapid succession and by half-time the score was 26-0 in favor of the Californians. In the third quarter Nevada got an edge in the play. Holding the Bears scoreless, for a period, the Wolves managed to reach the California thirty-one-yard line. At this point, however, Coach Ingram rushed his regulars into the game and the Nevada threat was permanently checked. Late in the final period, California again started a scoring march, chalking up two more touchdowns before the final gun sounded.

NEVADA 0, SAN JOSE 0

The San Jose game was the big objective in the Nevada schedule because the championship of the Far Western Conference depended upon its outcome. As it was, however, nothing was decided, for the teams fought out a game that ended with the score 0-0. This practically tied the two for championship honors, as each had yet one more conference game scheduled with a comparatively weak team. The boys on the Wolf Pack squad fought hard to try and win for Nevada the first conference championship in several years, but they were handicapped by the absence of several of their best players. Evidently familiar with the Wolves' offense from having scouted Nevada in other games, the San Jose Teachers smothered the Wolf line plays and flanking attacks. Nevada showed up well on the defense and experienced little trouble in holding the Spartans for small gains, and the game soon resolved itself into a punting duel between Ambrose, Nevada quarterback, and Wool of San Jose.

NEVADA 0, OLYMPIC CLUB 13

In the last home game of the season Nevada played host to the Olympic Club from San Francisco. The Wolves furnished plenty of competition for the former college stars and though they remained a real threat throughout the game they were unable to score, and went down to a 13-0 defeat before a large Armistice Day crowd. Hard-pressed by Nevada throughout the first period, the club men retaliated with a sustained drive in the second quarter that netted them their initial tally. A conversion by way of a forward pass gave the visitors a 7-0 lead. Again in the fourth quarter, a lateral pass from Carroll intended for Ambrose, Nevada quarterback, was intercepted by Smith, Olympic Club end, who galloped forty-five yards unmolested for the second and final score of the game. Their try for the extra point was unsuccessful. The Wolf Pack tried a series of newly-developed spin plays and laterals which gained good yardage consistently, but the team seemed to weaken repeatedly when in scoring territory.

NEVADA 7, FRESNO STATE 0

Playing their final game of the 1932 season, Nevada's gridmen squeezed out a last-minute touchdown to defeat the Fresno Bulldogs by a score of 7-0. For fifty of the sixty minutes of the game, Fresno was forced to play defensive ball within the shadows of its own goal posts. Only once, as the result of a poor kick by Nevada were the Fresno boys able to come within the Nevada thirty-yard stripe. Early in the third quarter Nevada reached the two-yard-line, but this time a fumble robbed them of their opportunity to score. Again a few plays later they reached the Fresno twelve-yard line but a pass over the goal was incomplete. With but two minutes of play remaining in the final period, Jack Hill of Nevada broke loose for a thirty-yard run that placed the ball twenty yards from the goal. Several plays carried the ball to the six-yard line from where Hill skirted around his own left end for the remaining yards and the winning touchdown. His place kick for the extra point was good. As a result of the outcome of this game, Nevada tied with San Jose for the championship honors of the Far Western Conference. Thus ended the season.

VARSITY FOOTBALL 1932

AS FOOTBALL requires both a large amount of equipment and a large squad of men it is perhaps the most difficult of the sports to keep running smoothly. Long daily practices, with the required assistance of rub-down men, issuance and care of equipment, the arrangement of transportation for trips, and innumerable other details combine to make the manager's job anything but an easy one. Rector Fuhrman has handled this job in a very efficient manner and deserves to be commended for his work. Last season "Rock" was assisted by John Majors and Ralph Menante, two Sophomore managers. Menante was chosen to take over the managership next season.

In the Far Western Conference the Nevada varsity tied for championship honors with San Jose. Nevada's goal was not crossed once by a conference team during the season and when they played San Jose they put out a much better brand of ball than did their opponents. Nevada won two games, lost none and tied one. Three of the Nevada players were picked on the official all-Far Western Conference football team by members of the Coaches' Conference and Managers' Association. These were "Ole" Thies, three-year varsity tackle; Tom Cashill, center and kicking star, and Jack Hill, speedy quarterback. Bill Beemer, guard, was placed on the second team, and Vic Carroll, fullback, Ralph Haynes, guard, Bob Madriaga, tackle, and Roy Bankofier, end, were given honorable mention.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

HANDICAPPED by the lack of material and interest among the men, Coach Chet Scranton's freshman gridders completed a mediocre season. Beside several scrimmages the squad played a schedule of six games in which they gained two victories and four losses. The season started off in fairly good order in a game with Fallon which the Baby Wolves won by a score of 7-0. The following week featured the College of Pacific freshmen playing against the Frosh. By a bit of hard luck due to the inability to convert for the extra point the Frosh lost the game by the score 7-6. In the Susanville and Las Vegas tussles the freshmen ran up against the strongest competition in the vicinity and were badly outclassed. Susanville beat the Frosh 15-0, while Las Vegas chalked up a score of 25-0 after traveling here from their home town. In the annual game with the Reno High School the freshmen played one of the poorest games of the season and were nosed out from a victory by the score of 7-0. As a final wind-up for the season the Frosh journeyed out to Ely and defeated the locals by a 16-2 score. This year under the new ruling of the Far Western Conference no freshman is eligible to compete on the varsity and, accordingly, Coach Scranton was able to retain players who in former years had been transferred to the regulars. Several individuals loomed out as outstanding players and should develop into good varsity material in the next season. Every man on the squad was able to earn his numerals this season.

BASKETBALL SEASON

STANFORD

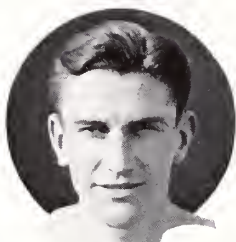

THE WOLVES opened the season with the strong Stanford ball team and nosed them out to win 25-24. Dan Bledsoe's free throw in the last minute of play won the game for Nevada. Except for two intervals when Stanford tied the score, the Wolves led all the way. In the first half Stanford tied it 6-6 and again near the end of the game it was tied, 24-24, when Bledsoe got his free throw that won the game for Nevada.

DAVIS-ELKINS

The next evening the Wolf Pack hit its full stride in a tilt against the Davis Elkins College team of West Virginia and swamped the barnstormers, 43 to 28. Displaying an unusual early season ability to hit the basket, the Nevada men led throughout the game, playing rings around their Southern opponents and giving them the worst beating they had received in their tour.

HOLIDAY TOUR

Handicapped by an attack of influenza that placed three of their outstanding players on the sick list and crippled the remainder of the squad, Nevada battled its way through California during the Christmas holidays, winning two games and suffering four defeats. Opening the tour the Wolves took a crushing defeat at the hands of U.C.L.A., losing by a score of 50-26 and again the following night by a score of 44-29.

BASKETBALL SEASON

They journeyed to San Francisco for their contest with California at Berkeley, which they lost, 26-23, when the Bears staged a last-minute rally after trailing for more than three-quarters of the game.

On the following night the Wolves again tasted defeat, losing by a 31-to-25 tally to the United Athletic Club, though the game was not decided until the last minutes of play.

In the next game with the Moffat Packers of San Francisco the Wolves turned the tables and downed their opponents by a decisive score of 52-28.

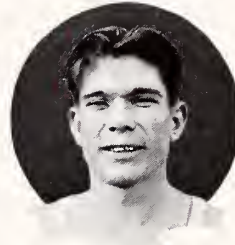

On the following evening Nevada completed its tour by defeating the San Francisco Olympic Club quintet, 41-36, in a thrilling last-minute rally.

CHICO STATE

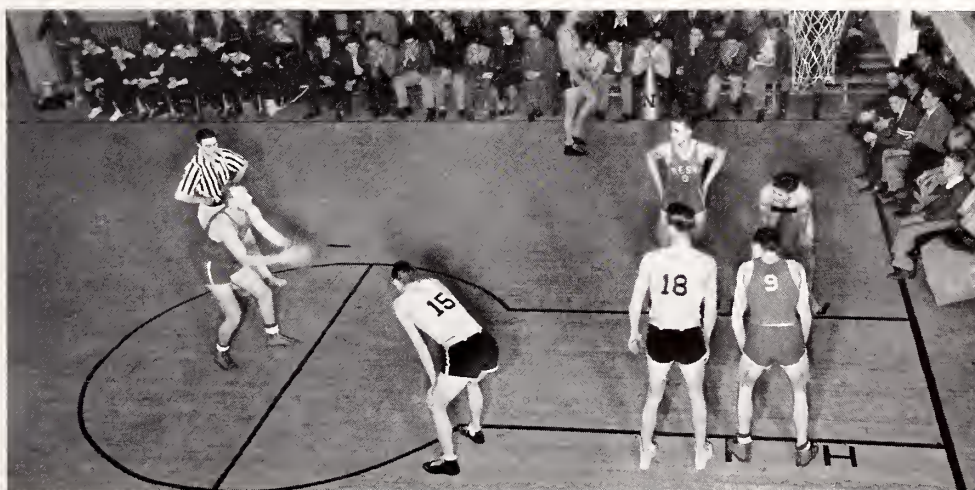

The Wolf Pack, expecting tough opposition from the Chico State aggregation, was a bit surprised at the ease with which it downed the Wildcats in both games with a wide margin, winning the first night, 42-26, and the second night, 42-24. The series opened the Far Western Conference schedule for Nevada.

SAN JOSE

Continuing their drive for the Far Western Conference championship, the Nevada Wolves defeated the San Jose State quintet in a two-game series on the San Jose court. They won the first game 49 to 26 and the second game 41 to 32. Dan Bledsoe and Mike Gould led the scoring in the two games.

HOUSE OF DAVID

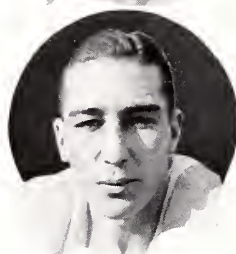

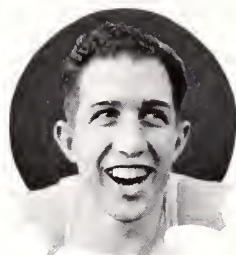

A capacity crowd of amused spectators saw the Wolves suffer a 25-to-21 defeat at the hands of the strong House of David quintet of Benton Harbor, Michigan. Using a slow, smooth-moving zone defense, the bearded giants had the Wolf Pack baffled. The game was featured by the clever passing and accurate shooting of the bearded ones, who didn't extend themselves any more than was necessary.

FRESNO

Nevada split a two-game series with the Fresno State Teachers to chalk up its first conference defeat of the season. Both games were closely contested, and finished in a mad rush with each team trying to gain the lead before the gun sounded. The first game ended in favor of the Wolf Pack, 23 to 21, and Fresno won the second game, 32 to 30.

MEJII UNIVERSITY (JAPAN)

Though they were handicapped somewhat by their size, the diminutive quintet from Meiji University put up a game battle, but the superior height of the Nevada players proved to be too much for them. The gun sounding at the end of the contest showed the Wolves on the long end of a 47-to-30 score.

BASKETBALL SEASON

COLLEGE OF PACIFIC

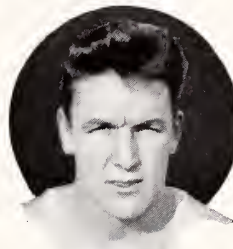

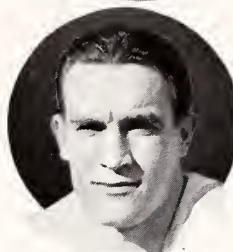

Splitting their second conference series of the season, the Nevada ball team fell before the tactics of the College of Pacific in the first game, to come back the following evening and give the Bengals their first trouncing of the conference. The score of the first game gave the College of Pacific 33 to 31 for Nevada, and on the second night the Wolves came out with 33 to 24 in their favor. Both games were among the roughest the Pack encountered.

ST. MARY'S

Playing their last games of the season on the home court, the Wolves split the series with the Gaels of St. Mary's, winning the first night, 44 to 39, and losing on the second by a 44-to-36 score. Both games were exceptionally fast and were played before a record-breaking crowd in the gymnasium.

CALIFORNIA AGGIES

In the final conference games of the season the Wolf Pack divided the series with the Aggies to put them in second place in the Far Western Conference championship race. Nevada was only nosed out in the first game after playing three extra periods when the Aggies were able to run up eight points to win, 45 to 37. In the second contest Nevada eked out a win by a two-point margin after a fighting second-half comeback, the final score being 28 to 26.

VARSDITY BASKETBALL

Edmund Recanzone
Manager

THE MANAGERIAL activities of the 1932-33 season were ably directed by Ed Recanzone. The basketball manager's job is never an easy one and this season was no exception. With practices to conduct for the Varsity, Goof, and Frosh squads, together with trips and arrangements for games, the amount of work is enormous. Ed was on the job constantly and is deserving of a great deal of credit for his fine work. He was assisted in his work by Reed St. Clair, Frank Hickey, Gene Kneebone and Ross Wainwright. Kneebone has been chosen to carry on the managerial duties for the next season.

The University of Nevada completed a successful season, winning 13 of the 22 games played and totaling 772 points against a total of 694 points for their opponents. The Wolves made 181, or 61 per cent, of their attempted free throws during the season. This year Nevada placed second in the Far Western Conference championship race, losing out to the College of Pacific. During the last eight years the Wolf Pack has only once fallen below second place. In 1926 Nevada tied for the championship with St. Mary's and won first-place honors in 1927 and 1932.

Dan Bledsoe, four years a member of the squad, was chosen as a member of the Far Western Conference team for the third consecutive year. Bruce Gould and Victor Carroll were given positions on the second team at the center and guard positions. Lloyd Guffrey was awarded honorable mention.

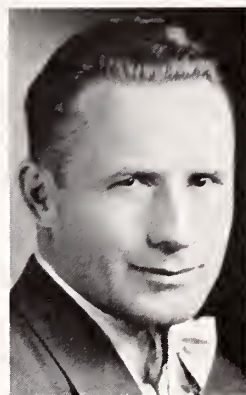

Standing—Phillips, Hackett, Bankofier, Stowell, Carroll, Gould, Bledsoe, Recanzone, mgr. Kneeling—Leighton, Lee, Hill, Guffrey, Curran.

FROSH BASKETBALL

LOSING but three of the nine games on its schedule the Freshmen completed a very successful season under the direction of Coach "Chet" Scranton. Twenty men came out for practice and all were awarded their Frosh numerals on the basis of attendance and spirit.

For the opening game of the season the Frosh played the strong Lovelock high school team and were defeated by a score of 32 to 31. In a return game the next week-end the Wolves took a hard-fought game by a narrow margin of two points, to win 26 to 24. The game was one of the fastest preliminaries ever played on the university floor. Lovelock held a lead during most of the game and it was not until the last few minutes that the Freshmen were able to beat out the team that was to become the 1933 state basketball champs. A game the following week with the Wilson Cubs resulted in another victory for the Frosh when they won by a score of 27 to 24. In a tussle with the Sparks High School the Frosh completely outplayed their opponents to defeat them 29 to 16. Starting off at the opening whistle, the frosh played aggressive ball and soon piled up a heavy lead, which they held. The following evening the Freshmen beat the Lassen County Junior College team from Susanville, 24 to 15, in an exciting preliminary. A return game resulted in another victory for the Frosh when they swamped the junior college, 48 to 18. The Wolf Cubs received their second and last defeat at the hands of the Reno High School, losing 26-19. The season was completed by splitting a two-game series, losing to the Tonopah town team, 23 to 18, and winning from the Tonopah High School by a score of 47 to 28.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

THE call for junior varsity basketball players was answered by some thirty youthful aspirants. This year the junior varsity was divided into two groups, the Blues and the Whites. The Blues were coached by "Jim" Bailey, former Nevada basketball and football star. The Whites were under the able direction of "Speed" Weaver, also a former Nevada athlete.

The teams were supposedly equally divided, as concerning the merit of the players. The men were recruited from the physical education classes, the varsity team, and from the general basketball enthusiasts on the campus. Both teams were entered in the city league with other teams of their own calibre from around town. Both teams held regular scrimmages with the varsity every Tuesday night.

WHITES

Out of the five games on their schedule the Whites won two and lost the other three, to score a percentage of .400. For their first game of the season they met up with the Fortieth Military Police and, in a lively tussle, downed their opponents by a score of 31 to 13. The following week the Whites took their second and last victory of the season when they defeated the Rovetti Grocery quintet by a score of 31 to 24. A game the next week with the Wilson Cubs resulted in a loss for the Whites, though it was not until the last minutes of play that the Cubs were able to pile up a lead to win by a score of 35 to 24. In a game with the Chism team the Whites lost by a narrow margin, the final score being 35 to 32.

Standing—Byrd, Leonard, Blakely, Mack, Weaver, coach. Kneeling—Clewett, Urrutia, Olson, Park.

WHITES VS. BLUES

The game between the two junior varsity teams saw the rivalry finally settled, when they played off their city league game at the university. The junior Blues won the contest by a score of 16 to 14. The outcome of the game was decided only in the last seconds of play when Gene Salet dropped in a shot from well out on the floor.

BLUES

The Blues had a more successful season than the Whites, winning four out of the six games on their schedule, to make a percentage of .600 and take second place in the city league. The Blues defeated the Fortieth Military Police for their first victory of the season, winning the game, 41 to 13. The next week a game with the Union Market proved to be very close and exciting. The Market boys won by a margin of one point when Dakin shot a free throw into the air and into the basket just as the final gun sounded, making the score 26 to 25. In a game with Chism's the Blues won their second contest of the season when they defeated them by a score of 24 to 16. A game with the Wilson Cubs resulted in the second and last defeat of the season for the Blues. In this game they were not able to function well until the last part of the contest, when it was too late, and they lost the game, 38 to 26. After winning the games with the Whites, the Blues wound up the season with a victory over the Rovetti Grocers, swamping them, 26 to 14, in an easy contest.

INTERFRATERNITY SPORTS

TRACK

WITH a total of 32 points Sigma Nu track team won the interfraternity track and field meet of the 1932 season. A fairly high wind was a considerable handicap in most of the events but an aid in others. In second place was Sigma Phi Sigma, while Independents, A.T.O., S.A.E., Lincoln Hall, Delta Sigma Lambda, Beta Kappa, Phi Sigma Kappa and Lambda Chi Alpha finished in that order.

The members of the Sigma Nu team were Frank Leonard, Paul Leonard, Earl Seaborn and Walter Linchan.

These men took first places in the mile, two-mile, shot-put and broad jump to win the meet.

BASEBALL

Playing against exceptionally keen competition, the Sigma Phi Sigma nine exhibited championship form to win the baseball cup for the 1932 season. With only two losses, which were administered by the Phi Sigma Kappa and A.T.O. nines, the winners completed their season after playing all the other teams in the Round Robin tournament to prove themselves the strongest aggregation.

A three-way tie gave second place to Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Nu and Lambda Chi Alpha. These three teams were strong threats throughout the season.

The members of the Sigma Phi Sigma team were Bud Beasley, Tom Cashill, Earl Handley, John Fulmis, Walter Reid, Cecil Stowell, Antone Chavez, John Brooks, Ralph Myers, Max Thompson, Lino DelGrande, Fred LaMarsna and Kenneth Austin.

INTERFRATERNITY SPORTS

VOLLEY BALL

ACCORDING to expectations, the lanky Alpha Tau Omega volley ball team made a clean sweep in this tournament. Their superior height was a big asset to the Tau aggregation and a serious handicap to the other teams. The winners averaged almost six feet. The Phi Sigma Kappa aggregation provided the most serious competition when they defeated A.T.O. in the first of their three-game series. However, they were unable to take the next two and so left the winners without being beaten.

The men composing the championship team were George Schilling, Bruce Gould, Gary Calahan, Ed Robertson, Wyman Evans, Clayton Phillips, Al O'Connell, Don Atcheson, Elmer Hawkins and Norman McKenzie.

BASKETBALL

Winning eight games and losing but one, the Sigma Nu basketball team upset the dope to win the annual interfraternity basketball championship. To conclude the tournament Sigma Nu defeated Phi Sigma Kappa who, in turn, won from Sigma Alpha Epsilon, leaving the two latter teams in a tie for second place.

The only game lost by the winners was to A.T.O., favorites of the league, in the first game of the tournament.

In third place was Lambda Chi Alpha, while the Independents, Beta Kappa and Lincoln Hall tied for fourth. Sigma Phi Sigma and Delta Sigma Lambda finished fifth and sixth.

Members of the winning team were Paul Leonard, Jack Dolan, Earl Seaborn, Jack Blakely, Frank Leonard, Jack Cameron, Angelo Urrutia, Clay Heilman, Jack Blum and Bill Gilmartin.

CROSS-COUNTRY

THE Alpha Tau Omega team brought the first three men across the finish line to win the cross country race. These men were Bela Harcos, Bob Hansen and George Hickey. Paul Leonard of Sigma Nu was the first of the fraternity men to finish. The race was run from Sparks to and around the Mackay track.

HANDBALL

Sigma Phi Sigma won both the singles and doubles events in the annual interfraternity handball competition. Tom Cashill and Bud Beasley comprised the team and completed the series without a defeat. This was a double elimination tournament.

HORSESHOES

The doubles series of the barnyard sport was won by the Sigma Phi Sigma team, composed of Harold Sanford and Frank Hickey, while Jack Dolan of Sigma Nu won the singles tournament. Exceptional skill was demonstrated in horseshoes this year and it is becoming one of the most popular sports.

TENNIS

The tennis tournament resulted in a victory for the doubles team of the Sigma Phi Sigma, which was composed of Bruce Moore and Joe Clark. Orison Miller, representing Sigma Alpha Epsilon, won the singles competition. Much spirit and interest was shown in this event since there was no intercollegiate competition this year.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

WOMEN's sports on the University of Nevada campus offer one of the outstanding means of activity for the women students. All of the sports are sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association.

Membership in the Women's Athletic Association is open to any woman student who takes part in any one sport by playing on a class team and maintaining an average scholastic standing.

Beside sponsoring the various women's sports on the W.A.A. presents a scholarship to a woman student who is active in all phases of university life. The organization also sponsors an annual play day for the girls in the state high schools.

The Women's Athletic Association is a member of the National Athletic Conference of American College Women and this year sent Dorothy Nason as a delegate to the sectional meeting in Texas.

The W.A.A. officers for the year were Mary Trudelle, president; Genevieve Wolf, vice-president; Blanche Keegan, secretary; and Marthine Solares, treasurer. Managers for the various sports were Helen Peterson, Kathryn Martin, Margaret Kornmayer, Myra Sauer, Cora Henriksen, Dorothy Pope, Della Renfro, Charlotte Pope, Helene Stark, Helen Olmstead and Ruby Bliss.

Coaching and directing of the women's sports is directly supervised by Mrs. Mae Simas. In addition Mrs. Simas is advisor for the Women's Athletic Association, coach for the women's sports, Gothic "N" advisor and faculty advisor for the Y.W.C.A.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

HOCKEY

This sport has proved to one of the most popular among the women and this year the junior class team were the victors in the inter-class competition. A mythical varsity team was chosen, composed of the following women: Ruby Hoskins, Kathryn Martin, Della Renfro, Helen Peterson, Blanche Keegan, Margaret Kornmayer, Helene Stark, Mary Trudelle, Marthine Solares, Myra Sauer and Miriam Butler.

SWIMMING

Classes held in the Y.M.C.A. pool attracted many swimmers this year and an intra-mural carnival was held at Moana Springs early this spring and a cup awarded to the Pi Beta Phi team for securing the most number of points in all the contests. The varsity team was composed of all girls who passed their Senior Life Saving tests during the fall term, including Helene Stark, Miriam Butler, Julia Sibley, Kathryn Martin, Mary Fulton and Margaret Traner.

BADMINTON

Though one of the newest this sport proved to be one of the most popular and the Pi Beta Phi single and doubles team took the honors. The women who showed outstanding ability were: Clara Dellevoet, Margaret Kornmayer, Kathryn Martin, Margaret Williams, Julia Sibley, Adeline Belmont, Myra Sauer, Lena Perri and Louise Tidball.

RIFLE

The only inter-collegiate sport for women at Nevada is rifle. Out of

WOMEN'S SPORTS

23 matches the women won 15 and topped things off by beating the men's R.O.T.C. team by 48 points. The women receiving awards were Margaret Place, Louise Tidball, Dorothy Gordon, Catherine Wright, Catherine Dondero, Pauline Thompson, Ellen Eckman, Elizabeth Frey, Mary Swett and Myra Sauer.

BASKETBALL

Tournaments between sorority and class teams held before Christmas resulted in victory for the Pi Beta Phi and Freshmen women. The mythical varsity was composed of Dorothy Pope, Charlotte Pope, Blanche Keegan, Alice Lundberg, Ida Rogers and Clara Dellevoet.

VOLLEYBALL

Following the Christmas vacation the season was begun and in the round-robin tournament the Seniors finished first without losing a game. The varsity was made up of Helen Peterson, Mary Trudelle, Ida Rogers, Blanche Keegan, Miriam Butler, Helene Stark and Nell Lozano. In the sorority competition Pi Beta Phi was victorious.

RIDING

Under the direction of Sergeant Hustis the women rode twice a week and ended the season with a picnic supper. Those eligible for membership in Saddle and Spurs are Catherine Wright, Marjorie Myles, Margaret Place, Aileen Daniels, Katherine Hansen, Evelyn Anderson, Marjorie Cannon, Louise Tidball, Myra Sauer and Dorothy Phillips.

ARTEMISIA

William Gilmartin
Editor

THE purpose of a university year-book is to present a graphic record of campus activities for the college year. In doing this the 1933 Artemisia has been embellished with a theme depicting the pioneer life of the state and its relation to the present life of the University.

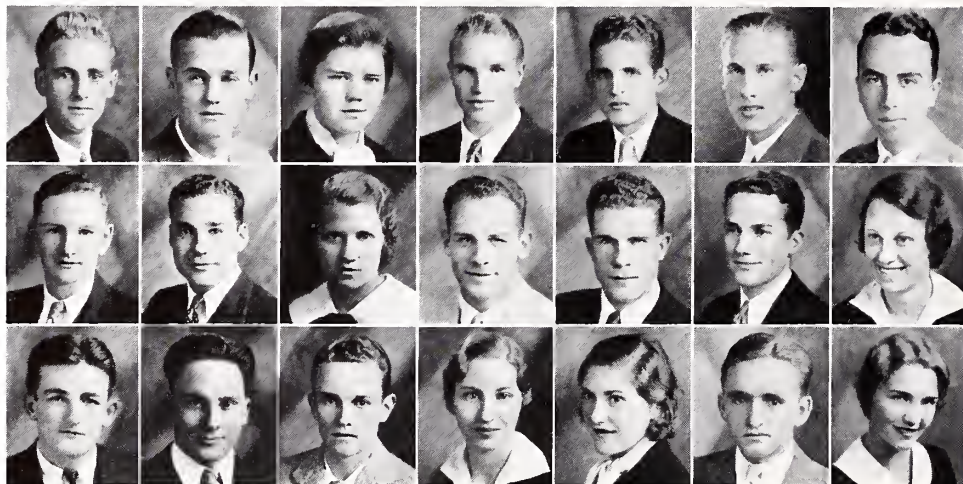

The chief work of the book is to organize the various campus activities into sections and to picture their accomplishments for the year as well as the students taking part. Write-ups and explanatory material also have to be composed and this constitutes the main duty of the staff. Due to the difficult financial situation a cut has been made in both the size of the Artemisia and the number of pages over the previous year. Color work has also been reduced to a minimum. However, the staff has endeavored to maintain the usual high standard and publish as fine an Artemisia as is possible under the circumstances.

ARTEMISIA

THE year of 1933 proved to be a difficult one for the business staff of the Artemisia. Business conditions and bank failures made the raising of the required sum of money an arduous task. The system of advertising that is used was worked out by the staff with the cooperation of the Nevada Retail Merchants' Association. This system, the staff believes, affords advertisers an advantage by bringing their firm names before the students, and makes for a neater-appearing book, while reducing the cost of printing. This reduction in the printing expense, along with lessened engraving and cover expenses, has made it possible to reduce the advertising rates. In the past the business men have done their best to help the students and have continued to show their loyalty this year again.

SAGEBRUSH

THE year 1933 marks the fortieth anniversary of the existence of the Nevada Sagebrush, and since the first date of publication editions have grown in size and content. It is published once each week under direction of an editor appointed by the Publications Board.

In addition to the large number of reporters on the staff the editor was assisted by Neva Shaw, women's editor; Ed Montgomery and Ned Morehouse, desk editors; Katherine Wright, city editor; Frances Smith, day editor; Geraldine Bingham, feature editor; Bill McMenamin, sports editor, and Myra Sauer, society editor.

SAGEBRUSH

THE management cooperates with the editor by supporting the paper and distributing it. Regular reports to the Finance Control Committee assure the student body that the paper is on a sound financial basis. The Sagebrush is fortunate in being of a quality high enough to receive a large amount of nation-wide advertising, besides that of a local nature. This year the Sagebrush, through careful expenditures and an intensive advertising campaign, was able to build up a surplus in the accounts to purchase equipment for the incoming editor and business manager. The University of Nevada Sagebrush is a member of the Pacific Intercollegiate Press Association, and maintains exchanges with other college papers of the Far Western Conference schools and papers throughout the state.

DESERT WOLF

THE University of Nevada Desert Wolf, official campus humor magazine for the past ten years, went out of existence with a final number on April 27.

Short stories, cartoons and illustrations, as well as jokes, made each of the four issues readable. John Mariani added considerably to the magazine with his art work, besides editing the magazine for two years. For the farewell issue Denver Dickerson, assistant editor, took over the edition and planned the book.

DESERT WOLF

UNIVERSITY humor magazines are recognized as one of the best fields for both local and national advertising. In the Desert Wolf, sixty per cent of the advertisements which appear are those of local merchants, while the remaining forty per cent is made up of that of national character. Color pages are one of the largest sources of income to the magazine from the large companies.

One thousand copies of each issue of the Wolf are printed for distribution to the student body and throughout the state. Approximately eighty copies are reserved for exchanges with state universities and the larger colleges of the country. This year about $250 was lost in the collapse of the Reno National Bank but the Wolf went over the top financially, paying all expenses and salaries accruing to $150.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

THE Publication Board is composed of the heads of the Artemisia, The Desert Wolf, and the Sagebrush, as well as two representatives from the Student Body. The duties of the board as specified in the constitution are to elect the new editors and managers at the close of the school year, removing from office those whom it deems incompetent, the filling of vacancies, and general supervision over the policies of the three publications.

While its duties will remain approximately the same there will be a change in the method of selecting the board under the new constitution. Next year there will be only the heads of the Artemisia and Sagebrush, due to the abolition of the Desert Wolf, while there will be three representatives from the student body. These will be elected by the Senate from its own membership.

PUBLICITY BUREAU

FOR the past two years, since the abolition of the A.S.U.N. News Bureau, publicity for University of Nevada has been handled through the Graduate Manager's office. Under direction of Bernard Hartung the staff sends out stories at regular intervals to all of the state papers and to the leading periodicals on the coast. Many of these items are featured by mats and cuts picturing athletes, events, and notables on the campus.

The greatest portion of the material sent out deals with athletics, and over a hundred mats and articles are released for publication during each sport season. This requires a great deal of effort on the part of Hartung and his staff. In the future the plan is to also include some of the eastern papers as well as various magazines and sport publications.

WOLVES FROLIC

THE thirteenth annual Wolves Frolic was presented at the Granada Theatre on October 21 in connection with the Homecoming Day celebration. Under the title of "Frivolous Rhythm" the frolic featured a chorus of sixteen, a fourteen-piece band under the direction of Dudley Nix, and nineteen varied vaudeville acts.

Outstanding among the numbers was a modern Shakespearian skit in modified style by the Stray Greeks, a double piano act by Denise Denson and Donald Butler, several tap-dance specialties by Jean McIntyre, and a comedy singing skit featuring Mildred Nagy and Dudley Nix. Other specialties included an adagio dance by Katherine and Charles Nichols, several vocal selections by Fred LaMarsna, a toe dance by Edith Mortensen, Dave Clark and Chet Hart in a tumbling number, the men's and women's glee clubs rendering several songs, and a number of humorous skits featuring notable campus Thespians.

The stage was set in modernistic style with a huge wolf's head as the central figure. Unique lighting and scenery arrangements added greatly to the effectiveness of the production.

The staff for the Wolves Frolic included Herbert Peck, Charles Nichols, George Davis, Wyman Evans, Elbert Walker, Wayne VanVoorhis, Ken Johnson, Bob Harrison and Dwight Leavitt. William Miller and Robert Griffin directed the production, while Ruth Ryan coached the dancing.

"AS YOU LIKE IT"

SHAKESPEARE's well-known comedy, "As You Like It," was presented at the university auditorium on April 4, 5 and 6. This was the only campus dramatic production of the year, due to a curtailment of the budget in this field.

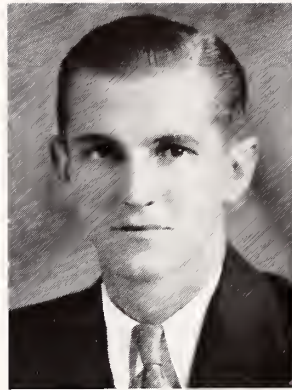

The play was well attended and received, being pronounced among the finest presentations on the campus in recent years. It was under the direction of William Miller, university dramatic coach.

Modern costumes were used throughout while the plot and dialogue remained unchanged. The theme of the comedy dealt with the amusing romance between Orlando, played by Chris Kocontes, and Rosalyn, played by Jean McIntyre. Despite numerous difficulties and trying situations the pair are finally united and so everything ends quite happily. Both Kocontes and Miss McIntyre took their parts exceptionally well and much of the success of the performance resulted from their ability.

Others outstanding in the cast were Marjorie Mullen at Celia, the bosom companion of Rosalyn; Donald Butler, playing as Orlando's elder brother; and Gordon McCaw, in the role of Adam, the elderly servant of Orlando.

The remainder of the cast consisted of Blythe Bulmer, Dorteia Shidler, Walter Christian, Gerald Davis, Ed Lozano, W. G. McDonald, John Lewis, Oscar Robinson, Gordon Carman, Gene Salet, Dudley Nix, Don Brown and Ralph Myers.

Herbert Peck, as stage director, had charge of staging and setting the play, while Wyman Evans was production manager.

DEBATE

Robert Griffin, Coach

ALTHOUGH curtailed to some extent over last season, University of Nevada debate schedule consisted of eight intercollegiate debates, four of which were at home, while the other four were with various colleges in California.

The season was opened on January 23 when the freshman team met the conference champion debaters from Whittier College on the question: "Resolved, That the United States should agree to cancellation of the interallied war debts." The Nevada team, composed of Bryce Rhodes and Carl Dodge won the decision. The second debate of the season was held with Willamette on February 17, with Rhodes and Dodge again representing Nevada. The war-debt question was also discussed at this contest but no decision was given on the outcome.

The following afternoon Dudley Nix and Granville Fletcher met the debaters from Stanford. Once more the interallied debts was the question for argument. This, too, was a no-decision debate.

On March 12 the Nevada debate team, composed of Rhodes and Fletcher, left Reno for a week's barnstorming tour through California. While on the trip they debated with the College of Pacific, Southern California, Whittier and Stanford University. The questions argued on the tour were that of war debts and "Resolved, That easy divorce is detrimental to American society." Nevada won two and lost one, while the fourth was no-decision.

The debate season was concluded with a contest with Colorado on March 21. Nevada, represented by Rhodes and Fletcher, won the debate.

BAND

THE University Band is an organization that plays a very active part in campus and city activities. This term, in particular, saw many appearances of this group, both in college and municipal events. The band was present at the home football and basketball games, besides playing for the R.O.T.C. inspection, special student body meetings, and rallies. This organization also furnished music for the dedication of the new Reno postoffice, for holiday parades, and was included in the joint concert held in May for the members of the important bands of the city. Much credit must be given to Theodore Post, the instructor, for organizing, rehearsing and directing this musical representation. Credit is also due Alvin Jacobs, the drum major, who put the band "through the paces" in parades and field marching.

Theodore Post, Instructor

An unexpected trip was taken during football season when the band went to Berkeley for the California-Nevada game. There it paraded in Memorial Stadium, playing selections from this university and from California. Even though small as compared with the U.C. band, it won a great deal of favorable comment from the spectators. The letter "N," formed by the members while before the stands, was heartily received.

The importance of the university band on the campus is evident. It is hoped that the organization in the future will be as successful as the one this year has been.

GLEE CLUBS

THE Music Department, under the direction of Professor Theodore Post, enjoyed a very successful season which was marked by numerous local appearances and many trips to surrounding towns.

The men's and women's glee clubs made their first public appearance early in December when they entertained the residents of Fernley at a concert held in the high school of that town. The clubs were well received, as well as the community orchestra which also made the trip. This group is composed of various Reno and university musicians.

Shortly following this event the campus singers gave a similar exhibition at the Fallon high school. The orchestra again made the trip and played the accompaniment as well as rendering several selections.

Both the glee clubs have been featured over the local radio station and were guest singers at the automobile show which was staged by the local car-dealers.

The two groups also played a prominent part in the Wolves Frolic. Several individual stunts were presented, while a finale consisting of the combined men and women was given.

In the early part of the second semester the entire music department, with the exception of the band, journeyed to Gardnerville where a concert was held before a capacity house.

One of the novel features of the year was presented during Christmas, when the members of both glee clubs sang carols on the street and over the radio.

Standing—Morris, Palmer, Parmenter, Salet, Elliot, Nagel, Shepley, DeKinder, Williams. Seated—Peck, Steffens, Nix, Thompson (accompanist), Harris, Wainwright, Rivers.

GLEE CLUBS

PROBABLY the outstanding feature of the year was the program given by the university orchestra at the yearly spring concert. The Glee Clubs also performed, singing "Creation Hymn" based upon the "Prelude in C sharp minor" by Rachmannoff. The solo in this number was carried by Mary Adeline Thompson. They also sang "Finlandia" by Sebelius.

The accompanists for the Women's Glee Club were Helen Steinmiller and Denise Denson. Mary Adeline Thompson accompanied the men singers.

Members of the Women's Glee Club were Marjorie Stout, Dorothy Green, Martha Scrugham, Miriam Clark, Anna Lucas, Mary Thompson, Anne Jenkins, Nadine Fischer, Ruth Morgan, Genevieve Wakefield, Leone Clark, Jesse Gulling, Dorothy Roseberry, Evelyn Semenza, Lillian Justi, Roberta Gregory, Denise Denson, Beatrice Cobb, Margaret Richards, Mary Durkee, Helen Spina, Isabel Baker, Violet Rebaleati, Sarah Graves, Blythe Bulmer, Dorothy Shoup, Evelyn Madsen, Naomi Bremenkomf, Maryanne Peck, Rita Gunter, Clara Beemer Whitney, Odessa Bick and Marjorie Fay.

Those composing the Men's Glee Club were Kistler Rivers, Jack Quaid, Keith LaVigne, Ed Uren, Fred Nagel, Lloyd Leonard, Tom Morris, Ross Wainwright, Russel Elliot, John DeKinder, William Squires, Bud Beasley, Tom Hilberg, Jimmie Schultz, Jack Thurston, Oscar Robinson, Winston Somerville, Edgar Shepley, Fred LaMarsna, George Steffens, Dudley Nix, Denver Dickerson, Robert Harris, Jack Williams, Ed Parmenter, Herbert Peck, Gerald Davis, Ed Montgomery, Nevin Fryer, Gene Salet, Robert Palmer and Jack Belz.

Colonel Robert M. Brambila

MILITARY DEPARTMENT

MILITARY training in colleges had its first inception when the Morrill act was passed by Congress July 2, 1862. This act provided that all land-grant colleges maintain military training under government supervision as a regular part of their courses of instruction in return for federal assistance. Following the World War the National Defense act of 1916 was revised. This provides, among other things, for Reserve Officers Training Corps, which is the present system in operation at the University of Nevada. This corps has the mission of furnishing trained officers for the regular

United States army in case of a national emergency. The University of Nevada maintains an infantry unit, senior division of the R.O.T.C., which includes two years of the basic work required of all underclassmen, and a two-year advanced course for a limited number of outstanding students who qualify for the work.

Colonel Robert M. Brambila will complete his second year as professor of military science and tactics at the university this June. He was graduated from Nevada with the class of 1897 and was commander from 1905 to 1909. First Lieutenant H. B. Wilcox and Sergeant Grant Hustis assist Colonel Brambila in the operation of the department.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT

*I*N order to give military students training in rifle firing, the University of Nevada annually sponsors a rifle team, placing it under the direction of the military department. Three teams of five men each are usually selected to fire in matches with other schools and universities.

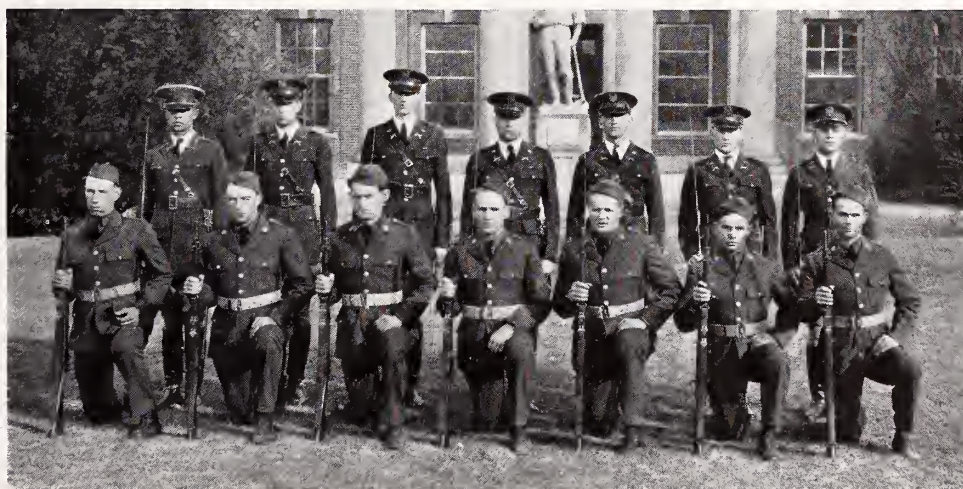

The Associated Students of the University of Nevada present each year to those men on the rifle team fulfilling the necessary requirements as specified in the constitution, a Circle "N" similar to the awards given for participation in the various minor sports on the campus. There is no outdoor range available in Reno for firing with high-power weapons, which prevents the organization of a rifle team on a strict military basis. Riflery is conducted more as a sport but is taught according to army regulations.

The 1932-33 season ended March 25 when Nevada competed in the Hearst Trophy match. During this season the team fired 32 individual matches with schools throughout the United States. It also competed in the Ninth Corps area match which included all institutions on the Pacific Coast.

This year's team was coached by Sergeant Grant Hustis, while Robert Anderson served as manager. The team includes Ned Morehouse, Walter Hunting, Bela Harcos, Paul Fontana, Paul Walker, Robert Palmer, William Kottke, Robert Anderson, Neil Plath, Arthur Chloupek, Daniel Harvey, Doyle Wakeling, Alton Gibson, George Mann and Donald Odell.

IN the complexity of college life it is only natural that students should divide into groups prompted by common ties of friendship or like interests, activities and motives. In these lie the inspiration and the spirit for achievement, not primarily for the individual or the group, but for our greatest organization—The University of Nevada.

ASSOCIATED ENGINEERS

ASSOCIATED ENGINEERS is an organization composed of approximately three hundred students registered in different branches of engineering including mining, mechanical, electrical and civil engineering. All students of engineering are eligible for membership. The main aim of the association is to organize all engineering students, providing for the further advancement of the science of engineering on the campus by lectures and motion pictures which it is able to obtain. At the Homecoming Day festivities, all the engineers hold an exhibit of their work in different schools of engineering. The association is in direct charge of this event as well as entering floats in the parade. On Mackay Day a chaining contest for all engineers was held and cups for the event were donated by downtown business men. Two innovations in the activities of the Associated Engineers were the presentation of the Engineers' Brawl, which is to be an annual affair. This was given early in the first semester and was one of the most successful social events of the year. The second was the trip which the organization sponsored for its members to go to the Boulder Dam. They viewed the ground-work and the project was studied in its entirety. Professor Bixby had general supervision over the trip.

The officers for the Associated Engineers were John Smith, president, Harry Dunseath, vice-president, and Cornelius Grabbe, secretary-treasurer.

PHI KAPPA PHI

PHI KAPPA PHI is a national honorary society whose main purpose is to promote scholarship and present education inducements to high scholastic attainment. The initial letters of the Greek word, Philosophia Draeti Photon, meaning "the love of learning rules the world," form the name of the scholastic society. Phi Kappa Phi is the second largest organization of its kind in the United States, having forty-four student chapters and one alumni chapter.

Each year a Phi Kappa Phi day is held at which the university's outstanding scholars are honored with membership. At this event an address is given by some notable scholar, while a banquet and initiation is held for the new and old members. This year's speaker was Bishop Thomas K. Gorman of the Catholic diocese of Reno.

The officers for the organization are George W. Sears, president; Alfred Leslie Higginbotham, vice-president; Martha Huber, secretary; William I. Smythe, treasurer; Verdie Fant, corresponding secretary, and Cruz Venstrom, marshal.

The membership is as follows: Faculty—Maxwell Adams, Frederick L. Bixby, Gilbert B. Blair, Horace P. Boardman, Colonel Robert Brambila, Mrs. Mary S. Buol, Jay A. Carpenter, Benjamin Chappelle, James E. Church, Walter E. Clark, Cecil W. Creel, Meryl Deming, Sanford C. Dinsmore, Samuel B. Doten, Verdie Fant, Silas C. Feemster, Ruth Miller Ferris, Peter Frandsen, John A. Fulton, Vincent P. Gianella, John Gottardi, John W. Hall, Leon W. Hartman, Paul Harwood, Charles R. Hicks, Alfred L. Higginbotham, Alfred E. Hill, Martha Huber, Ralph A. Irwin, Lawton Kline, Philip Lehenbauer, Sigmund Leifson, Katherine Lewers, Sarah Lewis, John E. Martie, Loretta Miller, Francis Murgotten, Stanley G. Palmer, Walter S. Palmer, Jessie Pope, Theodore Post, Katherine Riegelhuth, Edith Ruebsam, Colonel John P. Ryan, Elsa Sameth, Irving J. Sandorf, Verne Scott, Charles L. Searcy, George W. Sears, Frederick Sibley, Claude Smith, Edward G. Sutherland, William Smythe, Robert Stewart, Rueban C. Thompson, Fred W. Traner, Lyman R. Vawter, Frederick W. Wilson, Jeanne E. Wier, James R. Young and Cruz Venstrom.

Graduate Students—Frances Armbruster, LaVerne Blundell, John Fant, Evelyn Gault, Alex Lohse, Francis Headley, Precious Nash, Robert Prince.

Members Elected for 1932-1933—Harold N. Brown, Harry Dunseath, Edward Dyer, Alvin H. Jacobs, Marjorie Myles, Helen Peterson, Margaret Rawson, Elsie Seaborn, Ruth E. Sauer, Ruth Eleanor Bixby, Velva C. Trulove, Telfer Kitchen, Helen Olmsted, Earl Byers Seaborn and Rose Sala.

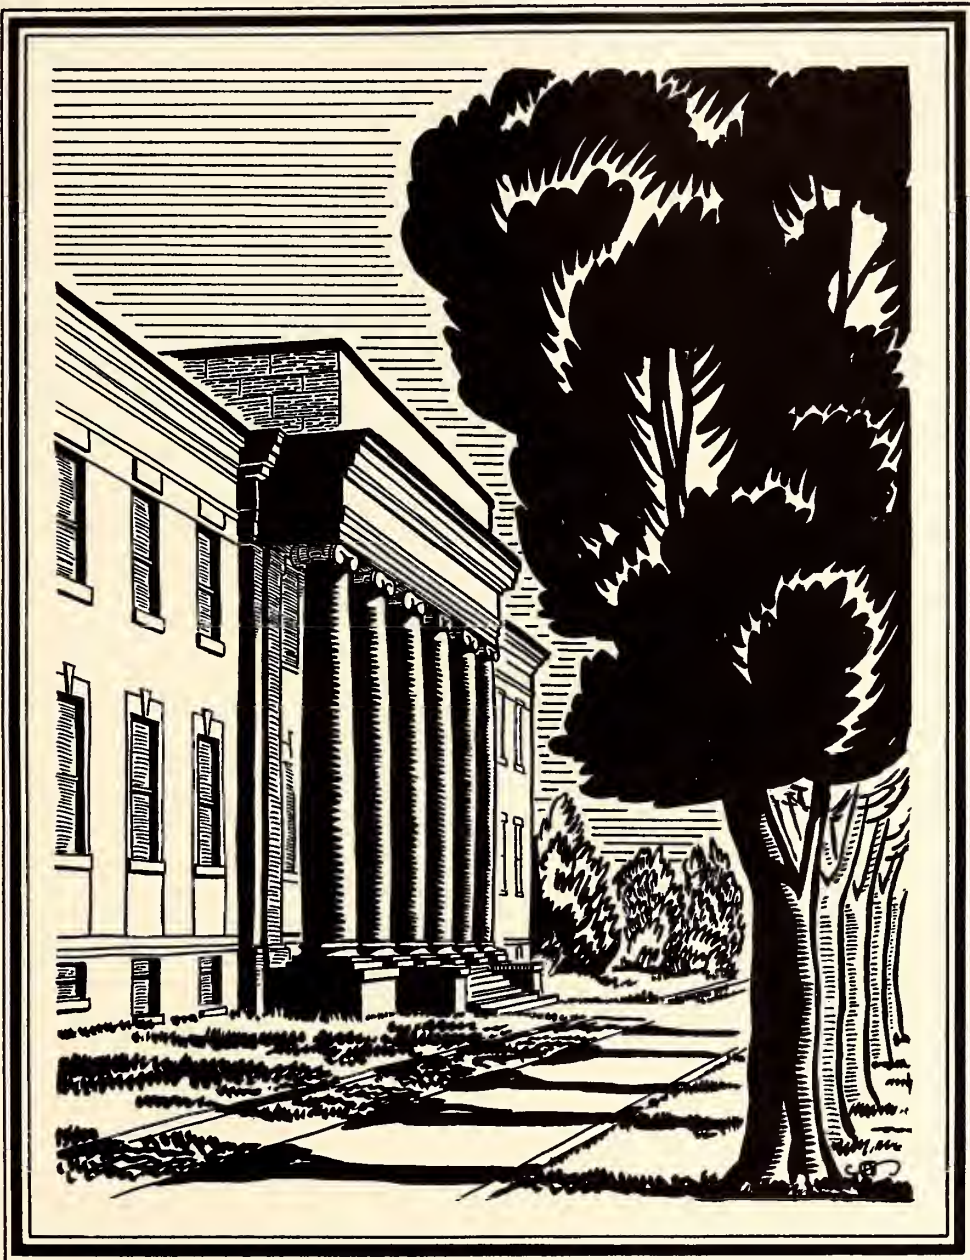

THE highlights and the spice of student life are to be found in features of the university year. Although lost in the term's general perspective, each event is of greatest importance to those with whom it leaves a pleasant association and a happy memory. For each of us it is the total of these bits of college life within our experience which endears us to our Alma Mater and brings recollections of a time well spent at Nevada.

At the top the campus hobos, better known as Sundowners, look on while Joe Washington and his cronies attempt to cross the Bohot-Bohot-Patomic as Coffin and Keys entertain with their annual running. Below is the final R.O.T.C. inspection and the end of the 7-45's, while just to the right Tabe is finally able to knock a hard foul. The conclusion of the college year and Nevada's farewell to the class of '32 is at the annual commencement. Scattered over the page are the graduates, faculty and speakers as they march to the gymnasium for this final chapter. Just above the lower right corner is the color guard at the inspection, while below some rabid baseball enthusiasts sit on the old tracks and cheer their favorites in the interfraternity tournament.

The Graduate Manager takes general stock of the situation while one erring young lady pays for her follies by scrubbing the Senior Bench. Below, things are generally being given out as several athletes call for their football uniforms while Sam distributes A.S.U.N. cards. Brick is seen giving a few of his stars a bit of advice. The aeronautical views are of the arrival of Monmouth Teachers' football aggregation and in between the A.S.U.N. shots pause for a photo. The queer looking object on the right is no one but "Speed" Weaver in action while in the left-hand corner is "Fritz" Coltrin, Assistant Coach.

It is a happy day when the student has completed his freshman year and here we see a few reasons why. We can also see a little more as Charley Adams loses his britches while painting the "N." A few other scenes of the semi-annual coating of the big letter are also clustered at the top of the page. The annual field day is one in which the Frosh and Sophs can battle it out on even terms. The remainder of the page is devoted to this event as well as to the course of a Freshman tradition-breaker into Manzanita Lake. Tie-ups, jousting, a tire rush, boxing, blinded and otherwise, feature the class fights, which was won by the Sophomores, entitling them to wear white derbies and vest and to carry canes.

Interfraternity sports occupy one of the main spots in the campus limelight and here we see a few action shots of these events. At the top Walt Linchan and Harvey Hill do some tall straining in their event; below "Red" Ayres drives one home as Jack Hill brings in a run. Fulmis steps back from an inside ball, and to the right Lambda Chi and Lincoln Hall fight it out under the basket. Hansen finishes to give the Tau's a win in the cross-country while beside him there is a usual argument over the barnyard sport. Champ Dolan demonstrates his form and in the bottom corner the A.T.O.'s continue their winning streak.

By far the biggest event of the fall semester is Homecoming Day. The festivities opened with the rally and bonfire which is seen blazing in the lower left corner. Outstanding in the events this year was the parade in which all the campus organizations entered floats, a few of which may be seen scattered about. This prize winner for the sororities was the Gamma Phi depiction of Morrill Tower, which can be seen just below the football game with the Cal. Aggies which the Wolves won easily. Just above the fire is a delicate surgical operation which won the organization prize for Sigma Gamma Epsilon. At the lower right the Frosh are getting revenge by dragging Sophs through the lake in the Homecoming tug-of-war.

In connection with Homecoming the annual Wolves Frolic was presented to a capacity house at the Granada Theatre. The chorus of this production is seen heading the page. Below, to the right, Squires is in a very characteristic pose on the Stray Greek float. The annual cross-country race was in the morning and in the fourth picture on the left are the leaders as they turned into University Avenue. Directly beneath this is the Lambda Chi Alpha float which won the cup for the fraternities by depicting the first graduating class. At the bottom of the page is a panorama of the Homecoming game kick-off with the yell-leaders and crowd in foreground.

During the spring semester the university was turned into a veritable lumber camp as the poplar trees lining the quad were cut to make room for the elms. Summer and snow make a lovely contrast as the various seasons visit the campus. In the lower part of the picture Gundlach enters the lake to attempt to outdo the swans in their own waters and Bledsoe takes a header between the birds. Three pictures down from the top Hackett and Bankofer have fun in the snow at the expense of Silly Sally and Chunky Bunky.

For the past two years Mackay Day has been one of the most successful events of the university year. At the bottom is last year's Whiskerino, while above are some of the many events featured this semester. The celebration began with a general cleanup of the campus which can be seen at the top of the page. The large object in the center is none other than our own Rhumba John. To the right is a contestant in the Engineering contest. Two pictures below is seen the dedication of the Haseman-Jones memorial bench. The football game is between two picked teams from the spring practice. The faculty worked on the tennis courts with Prof. Thompson swinging a mean brush with the approval of "Buck" Searcy. Even the dogs worked, as can be seen in the photo just above the dance.

Chapter
SUPPLEMENT
Two

THE gentleman (?) pictured on the left is responsible for the rag which weekly dirties our campus. For those unacquainted with this illustrious personage (if anyone can possibly have failed to notice that imposing rear view) his name is Waffle Foot Johnson, better known to his intimate acquaintances as "No News."

His favorite diversion is to make frequent jaunts to Wells to request the hand of the beautiful damsel who is just visible in the background. Or is she? Incidentally, this is considered her most attractive pose. Anyway, she is one person (and one only) who believes in Kenny's capabilities.

RIGHT this way, neighbor, and take a farewell look (thank Heaven) at the one and only hick from the sticks, Panaca Pete, the boy tycoon from Lincoln County way.

He knows the latest in chicken raising, hog calling, bull throwing and other traits so becoming the average farmer or A.S.U.N. prexy.

It took him four years to quit wearing a purple shirt with an orange tie and last time he went home with some of them there new-fangled bell-bottom pants the sheriff run him in for looking like a suspicious city feller, b'gad.

The straw from his ears is always handy in settling any ties which occur in campus controversies. Each candidate pulls one out and the longest wins.

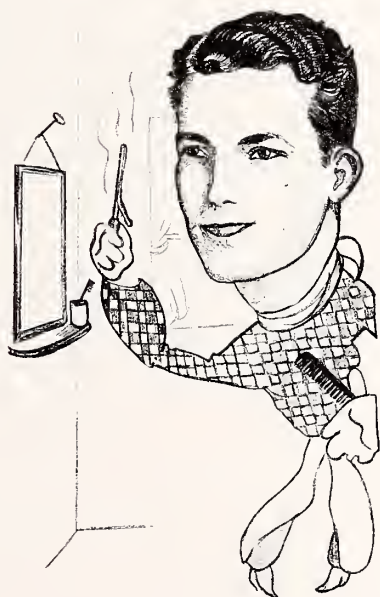

RAY "WILDMAN" HACKETT, grand old man of Nevada, is the delight of every feminine moron on the campus. Hackett has been here for at least six years and will probably go a seventh.

He plays the piano well and is the delight of the fans while on the basketball floor. His brand of play is also quite pleasing to the opposing team.

He has a pair of spindly legs that look like a couple of Scotch canes after a rain storm.

His mania for jazz is only overshadowed by his mania for Hackett. He might get across but 99 99-100% of the campus is half way smart—Hackett is the other 1-100%.

HERE is Mariani in a characteristic pose. He thinks more of those locks than he does of anything. (Poor Midge.) His recreation is to go out on the range and wrassle with the prize broncos. (We'll have to take his word for it.)

Some call him the campus heart-throb but that's nothing; aspirin is a heart-throb.

While this self-styled Adonis sat before the mirror, Dickerson, chump extraordinary, would put out the Wolf.

Juan (he prefers a Don in front of it) intends to be an artist. We hope he makes a go of it, but with his love for himself how could he make anything else look good? We give up.

CLAR-AH GALVIN, the beautiful—pardon our mistake—the girl from the Tri Delt house who takes the prize this year as the outstanding deliverer of the well-known boot.

Galvin was chosen as Mackay Day Queen but wasn't Hackett on the committee, and don't they hang in together, and don't they make a perfectly matched couple?

She worked on the Wolf for three years and finally managed to get a key which doesn't mean a thing because McCormack got one.

She is planning to replace Tick as the Tri Delt big shot (won't they ever improve?) and has managed to get into the Senate but what she'll do in there no one can guess.

Look and laugh, ladies and gentlemen, at none other than Butch "Blabby Flabby" VanVoorhis, the guy who is always in the way.

Van says he is a college man but if he's right every normal, self-respecting college man should take the easiest way out.

This mug has become prominent for his funny face, legs like a broken-down cow, and a chassis that rivals a demolished violin.

The women stand him because his conversation does not call for anything that takes thought. Thought is just another word to Wayne.

For a real laugh listen to him at any student body meeting.

HERE we present beautiful Jean McIntyre, Jeany the Queeny to you, who has just been crowned to preside over the Thoid Annual So-and-So Show at Voidi.

Jean has always been the queening type, ever since she started running around with "Greasy Nose" Priest.

The discovery was recently made that there actually exists a person on the campus to whom she does not speak while her face is becoming wrinkled from so much smiling.

The Thetas think she's swell, the campus things she's swell; in fact, we all think she's all right. That's the trouble—she's too darned nice.

HERE's Mud in your eye and we mean real Mud. The Congressman is known by all as the pest who is always where you don't want him. The professors bear him with a wry smile and think once a fool always a Clay.

His scrawny neck reminds one of a totem pole, but we would never mention the fact.

He hangs around Libby like a rope on a horse thief's neck but she handles him with a fist of iron. In fact, Mud is just Clay in her hands.

If anyone doubts the integrity of this boy please see Professor Young, and then count the second until you hit the floor.

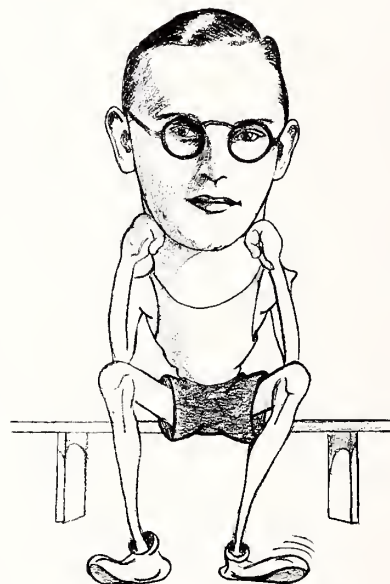

HERE we have a natural pose of "Big Bullnose" Beemer—clown supreme of our campus. Not content with giving the school four years of frolicking fun he has decided to come back for a fifth, much to the disgust of the more serious-minded element.

In the recent election he gave us a combination between Huey Long and Carrie Nation, but with all his clowning no one ever takes him seriously, not even the women.

Beemer has tried to fill the shoes of ex-Campus Clown Lorin Pease but he is unable to do so for two reasons: (1) his feet are too big and (2) his brain is too small. Page Ringling Bros.

ON the right we see "Decathlon" Bankofier, known to those who aren't smart as one of Nevada's few three sport letter men.

Stork has proved his prowess more than once for the Wolves. In football they were shy on ends and being continually around he was shoved in, much to the general surprise. In basketball he would sit listlessly by until the last minute when his forlorn look would cause Doc's sympathy to overcome his better judgment, so in went Roy. In track he almost broke the grammar school record by vaulting the remarkable height of 10 feet 6 inches. A magnificent soar. What a man!

APPRECIATION

THE Staff of the 1933 Artemisia wishes to take this opportunity to express its sincere appreciation to the following people and organizations for their cooperation and assistance in the production of this book:

The Nevada Retail Merchants' Association, the Nevada State Government officers, the firms, and the professional and business men who have subscribed to the following pages to make this book a financial success.

Mr. Frost, Mr. Shipaugh and Mr. Parish of the Reno Printing Company, to whose care, effort and ability is due the excellence of the printing and typography.

Mr. Ellsworth and Mr. Anderson of the Graphic American Yearbook Company for valuable aid and suggestions in planning the book, for supervision over all the engraving work, and for most of the Artemisia's art work.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McElwain of the Paffrath Studio for portraits and commercial photography appearing in the book.

Mr. Lubersky of the S. K. Smith Company for the supervision and manufacture of the covers.

Professor A. E. Hill who, as faculty advisor, gave many valuable suggestions on the editorial matter of the Artemisia.

John Mariani and Edgar Olson for the individual portraits as well as the cartoons and cover design.

And to all those who have worked on or contributed to the production of this volume.

"ANNUALS ON PARADE"

If the thousands of annuals published by universities all over the country during the past nine years were assembled all in one place, you would find a very definite majority of them parading in Molloy-made Covers. And the ARTEMISIA would not be far behind, because, during the past nine years nine copies of the ARTEMISIA have carried covers made by the David J. Molloy plan or its affiliate, the S. K. Smith organization. Now that the two organizations are combined under one roof, it can safely be said that there has been no break in the continuity of service to the ARTEMISIA staff during the past nine years.

A flexible organization, prepared to serve any annual staff in connection with the development of an unusual cover, regardless of the financial problem which that staff might face from the standpoint of budget, regardless of the art theme which that staff may have in mind, is prepared to work for you. Complete information and data will be furnished on request, and your cover problem will receive the personal attention of a man who has spent more years in creating and producing annual covers than any other man in the country.
